SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO MR. W. G. WATSON.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. W. G. Watson, the well-known owner of the Watson building, while backing a wagon loaded with bales of hay into a barn at Third and Howard streets, was knocked down by a part of the load that fell upon him when the wagon broke. He was brought to his home, corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue and Dr. R. E. Chase called in attendance. The most serious injury was in the back of the head where he had evidently been struck by some object in falling, producing a wound which it is hoped will not be serious, although the shock to a person of Mr. Watson's age may require some time for recovery.

Miss Lyda and Miss Nell Robb, very recently of Glendale, will spend the coming week in Coronado.

CANDIDATES IN A DILEMMA

Where Are They At?

The following affidavit has been sworn to by candidates for the Assembly in the Sixty-first District, Messrs. Roberts, Ready and Sherer:

"I am a member of and affiliate with the Republican party, and I desire to be nominated as the candidate of said party.....and affiant further says: I intend to affiliate with said Republican party at the NEXT ENSUING GENERAL ELECTION."

"I wish to emphasize the fact that we are absolutely clear from affiliation with either of the old parties;" and in the same speech:

"Ex-Democrats and ex-Republicans alike we hope will share with us the task of building up the Progressive party."

At the time the above declaration was made, Messrs. Roberts and Ready were declaring their intention to vote for Theodore Roosevelt, and so declare themselves now. Do voters intend to accept the sworn statements of Messrs. Roberts and Ready, or their every-day declarations?

J. C. SHERER.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOOD PICNIC.

A large number of residents of Glendale who belong to the Fraternal Brotherhood Lodge, accompanied by their families and friends, will hie themselves to Long Beach Thursday, August 29, for a picnic which will be attended by some 2000 members from the entire Southland. The Chamber of Commerce of that city have taken the matter up and all who wear the yellow badge of the day will be admitted at half rates to all the ten-cent concessions, the bath house and other places of amusements. It will entitle them to free coffee with their basket lunch which will be eaten all together on the lower floor of the auditorium at five o'clock. The ladies of the local lodge will have a rest room fitted up with every comfort for the ladies. The formal opening of the picnic will be at two o'clock, although guests will be arriving all day to enjoy the beach. A program will be given at this time at which the mayor of Long Beach will welcome the guests, and Mr. Foshay will reply. Others will give short snappy talks and then a band concert will be given on the beach. This will be followed by the races of all kinds, for which there will be prizes of value for both ladies and gentlemen in potato, egg, dash, slow, and many other kinds of races. All the lodges are invited to bring their drill teams and take part in the competitive drill. Uniforms are not necessary, as Los Angeles lodges will be barred from this entry. A magnificent silk flag will be presented the team putting on the best work and many other prizes will be given. The supper will be followed and the day closed with a grand ball in the auditorium at which the famous Willey band will furnish the music. Admission to this will be free, the only restriction being the wearing of the little yellow badge. The events of the day are open to all guests of the members, providing they wear the badge which says so.

This will be a big event and no doubt many of the people of our city will take advantage of the cheap rates on all car lines to attend, as it will afford a cheap outing.

MIDSUMMER BRIDGE PARTY.

One of the most charming of the midsummer social affairs was the bridge party held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Shattuck in honor of her birthday anniversary. Cut flowers and ferns were used in artistic decoration. The afternoon was devoted to bridge, after which tea was served. Eight out-of-town guests were present.

MARRIED—BUEHMAN-DOYLE.

A beautiful home wedding occurred last Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Doyle, 891 Glendale avenue, when their daughter Ella was married to Mr. Albert R. Buehman of Tucson, Arizona. Only the relatives and very close friends of the bride and groom were present. The bride was attended by Miss Emma Chadwick of Highland Park. Mr. John R. Doyle, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The Rev. Mr. Webster, pastor of the Presbyterian church of El Monte, a personal friend of the bride, officiated. The ring ceremony was used, a unique feature of which was that the ring was made from nuggets mined by the groom. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Music was rendered by the brother and sisters of the bride. The happy couple attempted to elude the guests and slip away, but were caught and showered with flowers instead of the time-honored rice and shoes.

The bride is a graduate of the Los Angeles State Normal School, and the groom of the University of Michigan. They left immediately for their home in Metcalf, Arizona.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN T. W. T. RICHARDS.

Capt. T. W. T. Richards, whose military title was gained by service under the Confederate General Mosby during the Civil war, died at his home, 114 Orange street, Glendale, Monday morning. Capt. Richards had been in poor health for some months past. Until recently he has been active in business for many years in Los Angeles, Burbank and Glendale. During the latter '80s he was an active spirit in realty in the then new town of Burbank and retained an interest in property there until recently. He has been a resident of Glendale about three years, owning until recently sold to Col. T. C. Thornton, the fine property on Central avene corner of Riverdale Drive. Captain Richards was the son of an old Virginia family and had a large circle of friends. He leaves a widow, two daughters and a son. The funeral took place Tuesday, interment at Hollywood cemetery.

The members of Glendale Lodge, I.O.O.F., are going to give an entertainment of the good, old-fashioned kind to which all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, their families and friends, are cordially invited. Frank Booth who is on the committee has issued strict orders that no one will be admitted unless they wear a good old smile, and that's all it will cost. Come and enjoy the evening. Lunch.

A ROBBER WITH NERVE.

The Underwood Typewriter Company seems to be out the sum of twenty dollars which they paid out to a man in Los Angeles for one of their own machines which he or some other thief stole from the Glendale library Wednesday night of last week. The machine had been rented by the library trustees and after the building had been entered the librarian accompanied by Officer Everett went to the office of the company in Los Angeles to inquire about it. It was found that it had been bought by one of their branch offices for $20.00 from a man giving the name of W. J. Love.

Miss Eleanor Johnson of Cincinnati, who has been visiting Miss Nell Robb of Kenwood street for the past month, left Tuesday to return to her home.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS.

Mr. H. C. Tupper, his son Wallace Tupper, Dr. Cox of Eagle Rock and Jack Reid of Glendale returned Saturday from a month's camping trip in the Sierras of Tulare county. They traveled in an auto to Kernville and from there packed over the mountains to a fine hunting ground. Tupper senior was the most successful hunter, as he was hunting for health and reports having found a considerable quantity of it, as he gained ten pounds and the day before leaving camp tramped twenty miles over the mountains. But Wallace was the hunter of big game and brought home three bear skins the result of his skill as a trapper, two brown and one black. He tried in vain to decoy a grizzly within the jaws of a big trap but unsuccessfully. He had the unique experience of seeing a bear get caught in one of his traps, watching its actions from a hill side at safe distance. The party secured two deer and several coyotes and wild cats.

On account of the serious illness of his sister, Mr. George P. Cady and wife left hurriedly for his home in Mellette, S. D., where his business interests are, and where they will remain for some time, although both dislike to leave California. Both young people are natives of South Dakota. Each has crossed the Rockies six times. Mr. Cady attended the Brownsberger School. Mrs. Cady graduated from Woodbury Business College, and held a position in the office of the California Truck Company three years prior to her marriage. Mr. Cady has been with the Citizens National Bank since coming here, one and a half years ago. The best wishes of many close friends follow them to their new old home.

Marble Company of Los Angeles, a fine south front lot, 62½ by 150 feet, on Randolph street, between Louise and Campbell, for $1,500. Mr. Davies has selected this site for a home after a wide research and long residence in several locations in and around Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Witt and family of West Broadway have returned from an enjoyable outing at Redondo.

A number of Glendale residents enjoyed an auto camping trip late last week and early this week. The party left this place early on Wednesday morning of last week and drove far up into the Big Tejunga canon about six miles north of Sunland. Two autos were used and they were crowded with pleasure seekers. There were no delays during the trip and the party reached their destination and made camp before sunset Wednesday. Since that time until Wednesday of this week, when the party returned to this place, there has been a continual round of pleasure. Hunting and fishing with rabbits, quail and trout in abundance, has rewarded the hunters and anglers. The members of the party were Misses Gertrude Wilson, Catherine Lenox, Dorothy Lee, Vera Kimball, Edna Learned, Sarabelle Kerwig and Helen Wright; Messrs. Lloyd Wilson, Ralph and Raymond Lusby, Frank Butterfield, P. C. Butterfield, Vera Wilson. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilson, Mrs. W. U. Butterfield and Mrs. C. C. Butterfield.

GLENDALE, CAL., AUGUST 23, 1912

Will Governor Johnson resign? Nay, nay, Pauline; a governorship in hand is worth several vice presidents in the plum tree.

The Woolworth building, New York City, has 55 stories, is 800 feet high and was constructed in two years at a cost of $11,000,000.

A large number of paid political articles and advertisements are now appearing on our pages. Any endorsement or expressions of approval of the claims of various candidates will be found in our editorial columns only.

"The Republican party organization of California is in the possession of the Progressives by right of original occupancy," which accords perfectly with

"That good old plan, for him to get who hath the power, and him to keep who can."

There are indications that there will be two tickets in Glendale for the fifteen freeholders who will frame the new charter. It seems as if this is entirely unnecessary and it is a matter for regret that there should be any division over this matter. The charter to be submitted to the people will no doubt be an acceptable one as we do not doubt but that any fifteen men who prepare it will give us a set of laws for self-government which will be well adapted to our needs.

We mentioned last week that a fine game of politics is being played with the state highway through the Antelope valley. It was carefully but unofficially announced a few weeks ago that it was to skirt along the west side of the valley. That was move number one. Then one of the "leading dailies" of Los Angeles took up the championship of the mid-valley route, that was number two. Then a delegation of citizens was sent by the same power to Sacramento to see the highway commissioners; that was number three. Next will be number four, shortly before the primary election on Sept. 3rd, an announcement that the road will go through the valley after all—then the grand finale, "See what we did for you."

THE DARROW CASE.

The papers do not inform us whether the paens of thanksgiving in thousands of homes which Judge Hutton infelicitously spoke about, will arise because Clarence Darrow is proved innocent or because he was not found guilty. No one wanted Mr. Darrow convicted unless he deserved it and the verdict of not guilty given by the jurymen who heard all the testimony, must be accepted as settling the matter. The trial was not conducted, however, in a manner that would give foreigners an exalted idea of our way of administrating justice. The mere fact that Lincoln Steffens was permitted to spend hours in giving expression to his peculiar beliefs, was merely one of the incidents showing that the development of facts pertinent to the case, was not the only object sought to be secured. When the time arrives that our courts come near to administering absolute justice in criminal cases, all appeals to sympathy and sentiment will be rigorously cut out; jurymen should not be subject to the hypnotic influence of attorneys gifted with skill in the use of words. The idea of trying to make a hero of Mr. Darrow for his work as a defender of persons accused of crime is rather nauseating in view of the fact that he seems ot have received large fees for his work.

"IN SPITE OF HIMSELF."

Bro. J. C. Sherer of the Glendale News, may be called upon to serve as Assemblyman from this district, in spite of himself. He is a Taft Republican, and his two opponents are Progressive "splits." So the official "lightning" may strike Bro. Sherer, if he don't watch out. But after all, as the late lamented Lampert candidate intimates, our good Brother Sherer could not carry California for Taft anyway, and he would be a good man to have in the legislature. He would be sure to look out for and fight those city and county consolidation sharks and "stand pat" for the interests of the San Fernando Valley. —Burbank Review.

SHERER FOR ASSEMBLY.

J. C. Sherer of Glendale is a candidate for the Assembly from this district, which is the 61st. He has been a resident of Glendale for 30 years and for 20 years he drove daily along the San Fernando road into the city. He is the editor and publisher of the Glendale News. He was the first cashier of the Bank of Glendale. He was school trustee for several years and connected with the Verdugo Canyon Water Co. He was one of the organizers of the Southern California Fruit Exchange, an association of growers which handles nearly all the citrus fruits. He has the experience needed to make him a valuable member of the Assembly if nominated and elected. He spent a winter in Sacramento and is conversant with the ordinary routine of legislative work.—Los Angeles News.

JUDGE HOUSER ENDORSED.

Judge Frederick W. Houser, who is a candidate for re-election to the position of judge of the superior court of this county, has been honored by the endorsement of the Good Government organization of the county of Los Angeles, which recommends him to the voters at the forthcoming election. The Good Government organization is non-partisan, and exists solely for the purpose of securing good government by the election of worthy men to office. This endorsement is a tribute of the highest character to the integrity and efficiency of Judge Houser. His record during the six years he has been on the bench of this county has stood the most searching examination, and upon that record, the Good Government organization finds him worthy, and therefore recommends his re-election.

Judge Paul J. McCormick who is a candidate to succeed himself as Judge of the Superior court has lived here 30 years. He has presided in the criminal department two years during which time he has made an enviable record. He is patient, industrious, conscientious and capable and has demonstrated his ability as a jurist. By his courteous treatment of all he he has won the admiration of both bar and laymen. He was elected two years ago as a non-partisan by a large majority. He is instructor in criminal law in the University of Southern California. His candidacy has been endorsed by the Good Government Organization, and by practically the entire bar of the county of Los Angeles.

Since the beginning of the Darrow trial, the work of the two criminal departments has been handled entirely by Judge McCormick, in spite of the fact that the criminal work, as a whole, has increased wonderfully in the past year.

The calendar for department twelve is full until next November. The criminal calendar of Judge McCormick's court has increased 150 per cent this year over what it was last year. The judge has tried as many cases this year up to the present date as were tried all last year.

In Judge McCormick's court last year he had 440 hearings and up to August 1, this year, he has had 960 hearings. Up to August 1, this year, he has had as many jury trials as he heard in the last year. There have been 154 jury trials in deaprtment twelve, and of these 59 per cent of the offenders were convicted, 29 per cent acquitted and in 11 per cent of the cases the jury disagreed.

In most of the cases tried before Judge McCormick the judge has made personal investigations to be assured the offender would not be done an injustice in any way.

CHARTER COMMITTEE.

Messrs. Goode and Emery of the Chamber of Commerce brought the matter of the nomination of a charter committee of fifteen before the board of trustees on Monday evening. Mr. Evans explained the law of the matter. The members of the committee must have been residents five years and freeholders at the time of their nomination, which must be by petition in the case of every member. There is no provision for the naming of the committee which may be done by any body of citizens or any individual. It was understood that a meeting held at K. of P. hall a week or two ago had selected fifteen names, but the board had no information relative to the matter. Later the board went into executive session and it is understood discussed the matter, the result being that on Tuesday half a dozen additional names were put in nomination. All of the trustees with the exception of Mr. Thompson (not a resident five years) are included in the list.

W. R. Middleworth of the firm of Walker-Middleworth Real Estate company, is passing two months in the East. Among points he will pass some time in is his old home town of Hudson Falls, N. Y. During his absence his varied duties are being attended to by Col. Farris C. Brown, recently of the South.

Construction work on nine new houses on and north of Arden avenue is under way this week.

J. T. Astbury has begun the erection of a bungalow on Dryden, facing south, 400 feet west of Central avenue.

H. F. Bloedel has exchanged his property, No. 1120 Viola avenue, for Los Angeles property, and moved to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Schatz of 1015 San Rafael avenue have left for an indefinite visit at their old home in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Arrivals at the Pepper Tree Inn the past week include C. C. Burger and wife, E. B. Wyman and family and Mrs. S. S. Cooke, all of Los Angeles.

It is intended and hoped that the school will be ready for pupils of the first and second grades by the winter term, immediately after the Christmas holidays.

The Nat Brown tennis court on West Stocker street is the rendezvous each week for the crack players from Los Angeles. W. R. Wheat and a party practiced there Sunday.

The Casa Verdugo teamsters are rushed hauling these days—material from the Glendale lumber yards and mills to La Crescenta Valley and Sunland, where building is very active.

J. T. Stanford of Los Angeles sold the second of two modern bungalows he erected on the southeast corner of Louise and Fairview avenue. The new owners have moved in.

J. C. Sherer, candidate for the Republican nomination for assembly, Sixty-first District, spent the day on Monday making new acquaintances among the electors of this section and shaking hands with old ones.

F. A. Faust of Viola avenue has taken the position of superintendent of the Burbank Electric Light and Power Company, which will necessitate the removal of his family to Burbank, as a convenienve.

Hon. James McLachlan, former congressman, and a candidate for the nomination as congressman for the Ninth District at the primaries on Sept. 3, spent a day last week meeting the electors of this section.

Wm. G. Hagan has started the foundation for a house on the lot adjoining his residence on the south, and facing the entrance to La Ramada. The estimated cost is from $7,500 to $10,000. The plans show four flats.

C. M. Walton has sold to William Allen for $3,000 the bungalow No. 1016 Central avenue. Mr. Allen, who has large ranching interests in the San Fernando Valley, is moving his family in.

The Misses Kent of Los Angeles, one a Polytechnic High School teacher, the other an instructress in Spanish at the Y. W. C. A., have begun the erection of a residence facing west on Central avenue, 300 feet south of Dryden street, to cost about $2,500.

Marshall Tilden has sold his property on Louise street, facing west, between Stocker and Randolph, comprising a lot 166x200 and a seven-room house, to Mrs. Ada Tillotson of Los Angeles, for a stated consideration of $5,500. Mrs. Tillotson will occupy the place as a home, after completing alterations.

A deer hunting and camping party of sixteen, members of five families, including Louis Andrews, A. D. McCoy, Stauffacher and others, spent the week of August 11-18 in the Upper Tejunga Canyon. Several deer were bagged, but none survived the demands of the camping appetites of the hunters. A return engagement is planned for a near date. J. W. Suukes of Casa Verdugo negotiated the round trip for the outfit, by wagon.

(1.) Verse 16—Why should every person form the habit of regularly attending church on the Sabbath day, as Jesus did?

(2.) Verses 17-19—Was it usual or not for members of the congregation in Jewish synagogues to be invited to read the Scriptures?

(3.) Which style did these Jewish synagogues' services most resemble, our present day Bible classes or our public services, and which is the better?

(4.) What would be the advantage if all Christians were to attend a Bible class?

(5.) Where did Jesus read from and what was its original meaning? (See Isa. lxi:1-2.)

(6.) Verses 20-21—By what authority did Jesus apply this language to himself? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(7.) What were the outstanding characteristics of the teaching and the actions of Jesus?

(8.) What do history and present day conditions say concerning the influence of Christ in the world?

(9.) Why did they look at Jesus so intently after he was through reading and had sat down?

(10.) Verse 22—What would probably be Jesus' comment on the Scripture he quoted?

(11.) What would there be to wonder at in Jesus' address?

(12.) When a man of God in these days delivers an inspired address do the people who listen to it always wonder? Why?

(13.) How often is there an exception to the rule that the son of a poor man is thought less of for that fact?

(14.) Which excites the most surprise, the distinguished son of a rich man or the distinguished son of a poor man?

(15.) What was the implication if, as they said, he was only Joseph's son?

(16.) Verse 23—What defect or malady did they think Jesus was suffering from and how did they want him to apply the remedy?

(17.) Verse 24—Why did they discount the claims of Jesus simply because he was brought up among them?

(18.) Why do we so often think lightly of what is very familiar, of blessings right at our door and of good men who are our neighbors?

(19.) Verses 25-27—In what way do these verses convey a refusal to work miracles at Nazareth?

(20.) Verses 28-30—Why is it that in all ages when men of God have taught the truth that so many professedly religious people have been angered?

(21.) How do you account for the anger of these people at the words Jesus had spoken to them?

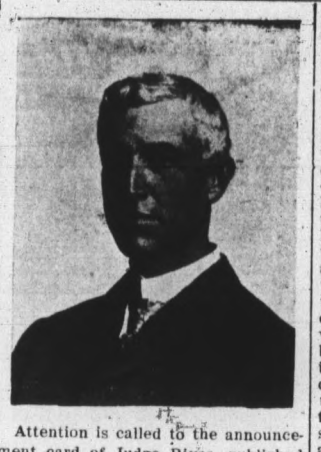
The proposed plan of the city of Los Angeles for serving Hollywood with the Owens River water is being looked into by Secretary Wright of the Hollywood Board of Trade and Attorney Edward Winterer, also a member of that organization. Attorney Matthews has been preparing a draft of the proposed assessment plan for the water board and the two Hollywood gentlemen were given permission to look it over. Both are convinced that it is an unfair plan for making the people of this section put up money from which the people of the entire city will benefit. The assessment plan makes immediate payment of the assessment necessary, otherwise a lien will be filed with the privilege of redemption within a year's time with a twenty per cent penalty. It would practically make payment necessary or result in the loss of one's property. While the property owners are given thirty days' time in which to protest, yet a casual inspection of the measure gives one the opinion that even after a protest the city council can force the assessment through. This, however, may not be the case.—Hollywood Citizen.



Attention is called to the announcement card of Judge Rives, published in this issue. The editor of the NEWS takes pleasure in recommending this candidate for the people's favor, after an acquaintance of twenty-five years.

GOOD JUDGMENT.

Patience and Great Legal Ability in Settling Estates.

The probate department of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county handles business to the extent of $50,000,000 annually. The amount represented in cases now in process of probate will exceed $300,000,000.

Millions upon millions of dollars' worth of trust property is under the direct control of the probate judge. He has handled many of the greatest estates in the country, some of which are still passing through the court. As many special proceedings are necessary, an immense amount of work is involved, the volume of which grows larger each year. For its population, Los Angeles has the largest amount of probate business of any county in the United States.

Among the large estates handled in this court are the Baldwin, Mullen, de Geyser, Little, Jones, Hellman, Bicknell, Toberman, Van Nuys, Ballerino, Porter, McNally, Whiting, de Groot, Bergin, Bryson, Keating, Eyraud, Meier and Gilmore. These estates will average over $1,000,000.

The probate court is the great clearing house where sacred trusts and promises are fulfilled. It devolves upon the probate judge to protect the rights of the absent heirs, however remote they may be, and distinguish between lawful heirs and bogus claimants. It is the probate judge who sees that the wishes of dead men and women as expressed in their wills are carried into effect.

Great Business Here.

Los Angeles county is the largest county government west of Cook county, Ill., and according to population, has the largest amount of probate business of any city in the United States. One chief reason is that thousands of persons come to Southern California seeking health and to pass their declining years. Another reason is that the administration of the affairs of deceased persons is controlled by statutes which must be strictly followed and the proceeding necessitates many court appearances in each estate.

Judge Rives, who presides over all matters of probate, exercises a legal and paternal supervision over the property of those who are unable to care for themselves. The work in Department Two moves with clock-like precision.

In 1911 the cases filed numbered 2271. Many special proceedings are necessary in each case, ranging from ten to fifty. Many thousands of probate cases are being administered, and the volume grows larger each year. Guardianship estates last during minority and necessarily accumulate year after year until they alone amount to thousands of cases.

Some Side Issues.

This does not comprise all the work that Judge Rives does, as there are many interviews with attorneys, executors and administrators on matters concerning the interest of estates.

The investment of children's money often occupies Judge Rives' attention, and frequently he takes it upon himself to inspect the property which is the subject of consideration.

Two able judges in the city and county of San Francisco devote their time almost wholly to a smaller volume of probate work. Judge Rives however, says he can do still more.

"There is no fairer bar in the world than ours," he declared, recently. "The lawyers believe in me, and I trust them. In five years nearly all of the lawyers in this county have appeared before me many times, and in the thousands of court proceedings I recall but a single instance when I believed the attorney tried to deceive me.

"The integrity of our bar, efficient clerks and an improved plan of disposing of matters enable me to do the work with great satisfaction to myself, and I hope, to the public."

What Judge Rives is too modest to say, but which all the lawyers assert is the real reason why the probate court has a record unexcelled in this country, is that he has "horse sense," patience, good humor and a sound knowledge of the law.

THE INCREASING COST OF LIVING

Editor GLENDALE NEWS:

Much is being said and written of late on the high cost of living and while many have pointed out minor and contributory causes, none so far as we have seen, have touched the tap root, the main and underlying cause. To be brief, it can be given in three words: rent, interest and profit. If there be any who differ with this view, let them try to give a plausible reason for the ever-increasing cost of the necessaries of life. If we had been having famines or were suffering from overpopulation so that the soil could not produce enough for all, then there would be no speculation as to the cause, but is it not a self-evident fact that the larger the number of non-producers, the greater the burden on those who do produce.

And that is just the situation we are facing today. Statistics show that while the cities are growing at an unprecedented rate, some of our best agricultural states are hardly holding their own. One of the greatest evils of this shifting of population from the country to the city is that an ever larger proportion become a part of the nonproductive or parasitical class. By the word parasite, we mean those who consume without producing or in any way aiding in the production of wealth. We hear much of the tramp who won't work. Has not the wandering hobo as much right to live without work as his higher-up brother? The genus hobo is the most insignificant and inexpensive part of our parasitical class. To a large extent he clothes and feeds himself from the leavings of our real parasites. As the jackal picks the bones after the king of beasts has gorged, so the tramp is to the class who really prey on society from the higher-ups who manipulate stocks and bonds and coin millions by cornering the staple food products, to the thousands of surplus merchants, tradesmen and middlemen and the no end of get-rich-quick schemers, all parasites living off of labor.

Is it any wonder that those who do the productive work of the world find living conditions growing ever harder? "Back to the land," is a good slogan, but for the moneyed men to combine and buy up the land in large holdings and then take advantage of the people's necessities and raise the price from three to ten times, is a mighty poor way of getting the impoverished wage earners back to the land. Statistics show us another fact of significance, that in the past fifty years the number of acres of new land that have been brought under cultivation has not nearly kept pace with the increase of population, and each succeeding year from now on will show a greater divergence in the ratio. It has not been so long ago that Horace Greeley said: "The saddest day of a young man's life was when he conceived the idea of getting a dollar by any other means than by honestly earning it."

Has economics anything to do with the changed conditions, or is it just the people that have changed? For certain it is that many men, both old and young, are looking to get the dollar anyway except by giving an honest equivalent in labor. So long as the non-producing class continue to increase, so long as that class can live off of labor by rent, interest, and profit, so long will the problem of the high cost of living not only remain unsolved, but will grow in importance. For the greater the wealth produced under the capitalistic system, the greater the burden of rent, interest, and profit on those who toil, and poverty with all its attending evils of hunger, insanity, crime and suicide, will continue to increase. "As we sow, so shall the harvest be."

For all the many evils pointed out by our reformers as threatening the life of the nation, there is one underlying cause; that is private ownership of the resources of nature, the means of life. And collective ownership and cooperation is the one remedy. In corroboration of the above we will cite you to a few points that Senator Burton of Ohio brought out in the report of his investigation of the high cost of living. One cause, he says, is the diminished productive energy of a large part of our population and "price agreements and monopoly." He shows that in the last twenty years municipal taxes have increased seventy-one per cent in New York City, a striking example of progress and poverty. The oppressive burden of military and naval armament, involving a cost of two billion dollars to the civilized nations per year, an economic waste which imposes an almost unendurable burden on the world's resources. He further shows that the naval expenses of this nation increased from twenty-two millions in the year 1890 to a hundred and twenty-three millions in 1910.

If the capitalistic system in so short a time has created and brought us face to face with such grave problems, what has the near future in store for us

RESOLUTIONS BY REPUBLICAN CLUB.

The Republican Club of Los Angeles city and county has gone on record as follows:

An attempt is being made by leaders of the "Progressive Party" who in this state are masquerading as Republicans, and who are at this time in control of the state administration, to divert the machinery of the Republican party to the use of the "Progressive Party." It is undoubtedly the right of any set of men to organize under any political designation they may see fit to select, and to go before the people for consideration, under the California law a method is provided by which this "Progressive Party" may submit its cause to the people of this state, and that is the only honorable course.

The Republican party is a national organization with a national ticket in the field. These "Progressives" have no right, moral or legal, to usurp the name "Republican" and no right to use the machinery of the Republican party in this state for the purpose of defeating the Republican party nationally.

The state administration has, by use of power and patronage, built up the most perfect and merciless machine that this or any state has ever known, and now to cap the climax it purposes to steal the Republican party, name and all. Every candidate for the legislature in this state, who calls himself Republican has filed an affidavit in which, under solemn oath, he states "I am a member of and affiliate with the Republican party, and I desire to be nominated as the candidate of said party.....and affiant further says: I intend to affiliate with said Republican party at the NEXT ENSUING GENERAL ELECTION."

Irrespective of the legal aspect, can any man who swears to such statements, go with good conscience before the people of this state and say, "I intend to help select electors who if elected will vote for Theodore Roosevelt the candidate of the "Progressive Party?"

Aid and Money Asked.

This club will attempt to combat these efforts to take from Republicans the right to vote for their candidates, and we need the assistance of all true Republicans. We need your financial aid, and your active support and cooperation. All moneys received will be carefully accounted for, and all disbursements audited by a committee composed of W. C. Patterson and F. M. Douglas. Every dollar will be expended along legitimate lines for organization and publicity only. Send your contributions, large or small, to Phillip L. Wilson, president of the Traders' Band, and treasurer of the Club.

Send your name for enrollment in the Club to headquarters, No. 703 Merchants' Trust building.

Love or Money?

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"I shall marry for love," Azalia Bonner had sighed sentimentally.

A merry light came into Dell Horton's blue eyes. She dearly loved to shock the romantic soul of Azalia, her bosom friend.

Azalia made no reply for a moment. She was busy adjusting this sordid remark to the otherwise charming and gentle minded Dell. Azalia had her own plans for her friend. Dell was to marry Rudey Blenck and in a measure—a small measure, mind you—console him for the loss of Azalia herself, for Azalia loved not the fair haired Rudey and had broken the news to him.

"But you will never be happy, Dell," said Azalia seriously. "Why should you sell yourself to some toothless old man who" —

"Azalia! Please don't suggest that I might not attract a young millionaire," teased Dell as she led the way from the fashionable tea room where the conversation had taken place.

"I never thought of that, dear," admitted Azalia. "You know in novels and newspaper headings it's always the other way round. Have you—ever—have you ever thought much about it, Dell? I mean, have you calculated just how rich he must be?" An eager light was in her eyes.

Dell yawned. "Dear me, no! I am so poor myself that almost any sum of money over $10,000 would appear to be a fortune."

"Then Rudey would do!" blurted forth Azalia excitedly.

Dell stared incredulously. "Rudey Blenck?" she asked.

"Yes, of course. He's a dear," cried Azalia, loyal to her discarded suitor.

"Then why don't you marry him, dear?" asked Dell sweetly.

"I don't love him," explained Azalia sorrowfully.

"Neither do I," retorted Dell crisply.

"But you said you didn't care. You wanted to marry for money. And, oh, dear Dell, I have just remembered that I had to be at that stupid tailor's at 3 o'clock. Will you come with me?"

"I can't, Azalia. I am going to read to Aunt Pamela Griffin. She's confined to the house with another attack of rheumatism. Goodby. See you tomorrow." She waved her hand at Azalia as the latter turned down the avenue and disappeared in the crowd.

Dell forgot all about the foolish conversation the instant Azalia had left her. Azalia was so intensely romantic that Dell had found herself shrinking from the everyday heart to heart exchange of sentiment that was becoming the conversational food of her friend. As a healthy reaction from this overdose of sentiment Dell had formed the habit of applying douches of cold, calculating, practical, worldly wise opinions. Azalia shrank under this treatment and secretly worried about Dell. But she still clung to the fanciful idea that she could not marry Rudey because she did not love him enough when as a matter of fact she adored him. It was indeed romantic to observe Rudey pining away for love of her.

While Dell waited on the corner for a bus she was not thinking of Azalia Bonner nor of Rudey Blenck nor of her Aunt Pamela Griffin. She was thinking of Stanley Renn, who was Azalia's cousin and a poor young physician who had just opened his first office.

* * * * * * *

"I simply can't have her marry for money!" groaned Azalia, beginning to worry over the matter.

"Well, little cousin, why so worried?" and Stanley Renn fell into step beside her. "Rudey committed suicide?"

Azalia stopped short. "What do you mean?" she demanded, wide eyed. "Where is he?"

"At the club, drinking—drinking himself to death! I shall declare it suicide if I'm asked to sign his death certificate," returned Renn cheerfully.

"Humph!" sniffed the aggrieved Azalia. "They wouldn't call you in, Stan! They might if it was a cat—or something like that!" she ended cuttingly.

"A puppy, perhaps?" asked the doctor innocently.

"I don't know what is the matter with everybody today," complained Azalia at last. "First Dell Horton declares she is going to marry for money—so sordid, you know. I wouldn't have believed it of Dell, would you, Stanley?"

Dr. Renn's face had lost its merry humor. It was quite white, and his hazel eyes looked black by contrast.

"No," he said rather curtly; "I wouldn't. You are sure?" He despised himself for asking this question.

"She said so repeatedly," averred Azalia earnestly. "You see, Stanley, they've always been in moderate circumstances, and I suppose it is a temptation."

"Who is he?" demanded Dr. Renn hoarsely.

"I don't know—yet," returned Azalia dreamily. She had caught a glimpse of Rudey Blenck in a taxicab that bowled swiftly past them. Rudey's face looked very pale and melancholy against the dark background of the vehicle.

Dr. Renn left her at the park and disappeared within its winding paths.

"Not for me!" he said fiercely. "She's not for a poor devil like me. I don't know that I blame her much, either. I wonder why she told Azalia. Perhaps—it might be that she knew the child would babble it to me and then I would know and not give her the pain of telling me my cause was a hopeless one. Bah! What nonsense I am talking! It's not like Dell Horton to send her messages in any such indirect way, nor would she be likely to refuse a man before he asked her to marry him. Cool off, you idiot!" This last remark was, of course, addressed to himself.

For several days Dr. Renn avoided the vicinity of Dell Horton, and this was all the more noticeable because he had haunted her every spare moment of his abundant time. It so happened that a gouty old millionaire took a fancy to the doctor and was inclined to give him a professional start.

At last the doctor found time to call upon Azalia. There, at least, he might hear some scrap of news about Dell Horton.

"Yes, of course, he's a dear!" cried Azalia.

"How is your patient?" teased Azalia when he appeared.

"Which one?" he asked.

"Is there more than one?" Azalia arched her brows provokingly. "I am so glad!"

"Rudey completed the job yet?" asked Dr. Renn.

"What job?"

"Suicide."

"How horrid of you, Stanley! He isn't trying to drink himself to death. I asked him and he told me so. What do you think, Stanley—you will be interested because you know her!"

"Who are you talking about?" asked the doctor, with a sinking heart.

"Why, Dell Horton. I believe she and Rudey will actually marry each other." Azalia made this statement with becoming enthusiasm.

Azalia was pale with indignation. She fluttered angrily. "How dare you call Rudolph a shrimp! He's—why, he's my ideal of a man!" she ended in an explosive burst of tears.

"Then why in the dickens don't you marry him yourself?" roared the tormented doctor.

"I shall!" she declared firmly. "Will you excuse me, Stanley, while I telephone to him?"

"Gladly!" said the doctor.

Azalia had hardly left the room by another door when the hall door opened and Dell Horton entered, lovely in pale gray, with violets at her breast—and in her eyes.

New hope sprang alive within him when she smiled at him and permitted her hand to rest in his for a brief moment. "Where is Azalia?" she asked.

"She is saving a life," he said, looking keenly at her. He knew she did not care a rap for young Blenck, but her ambitions might lead that way.

Dell's eyes widened. "Whose?" she asked quickly.

"Rudey Blenck's—drinking himself to death and all that, you know. Azalia has gone to telephone him that he is her ideal man and that suicide is unnecessary or may be postponed. I know I am not violating a confidence, because Azalia's mind and affairs are an open book to you, her friend," he explained whimsically.

"Dell!" he said suddenly and caught her little gloved hand in his. "Azalia said something about your—marrying for money—you know, and"—

"Really, dear? You wouldn't hesitate to marry a poor man—like me?" He was actually holding her in his arms.

"If she marries Stanley it must be for love," she sighed. "How romantic!"

WHAT LACK WE YET?

(An Iowa friend handed us the following by Robert J. Burdette, clipped from the Oskaloosa Herald of February 26, 1887.)

When Washington was president,
As cold as any icicle,
He never on a railroad went,
And never rode a bicycle.

He read by no electric lamp,
Nor heard about the Yellowstone,
He never licked a postage stamp
And never saw a telephone.

His trousers ended at his knees,
By wire he could not words dispatch,
He filled his lamp with whale oil grease
And never had a match to scratch.

But in these days it's come to pass,
All work is with such dashing done,
We've all these things—but, then, alas!
We seem to have no Washington.

CROSSING THE ATLANTIC.

By a Glendalian.

After leaving our dear little city of Glendale and traveling days and nights almost continuously, we arrived in Toronto. Such a pretty place and very Englishy, especially the policemen and postmen. We saw all the sights in Toronto, were dined and teaed at the Royal Yach club on the island, Toronto's favorite pleasure ground, reached by ferry and situated in beautiful Lake Ontario. Here enthusiastic yachtsmen keep their boats, and if there is a more delightful recreation than sailing in a little dinghy in Toronto Bay, I have yet to find it. However much as we liked Toronto and its surroundings, circumstances forced us to hasten our plans for leaving and the 28th of June found us embarking on the good ship "Canada," in the docks of the quaint old city of Montreal where alas! we had no time for sightseeing. We were lucky enough to have a friend there who came to see us on board, and spent a pleasant evening. We dropped off to sleep in spite of the noise of cargo lading and the tramping of many busy people on deck, and waking in the early dawn found ourselves gently slipping down the river, the beautiful St. Lawrence, and leaving the lights of Montreal far behind. Oh the wonder of it! We are actually sailing away from America, the land of our adoption, and ever deaf in our hearts, to England, the land of our birth, equally dear! I could not sleep much more, but watched the daylight come, revealing the picturesque banks of the river and islands beautifully wooded at frequent intervals.

All that day we watched entranced the picturesque and beautiful scenery of the St. Lawrence. One thing I noticed particularly, the number of churches, some of them very beautiful. Early in the afternoon we reached Quebec, the wonderful, and here we had several hours. I could write pages and pages about that quaint and beautiful place and would have liked at least a week there. Going up through the narrow winding cobblestoned streets, sometimes almost perpendicular, in a funny street car, we arrived at the famous Chateau Fontenac, a splendid hotel, with a magnificent view of the harbor, river and ocean. Behind this is the "Citadel" grim fortress of Quebec, and the statue of Champlain, the founder of the city, occupies a commanding position in front. Near at hand is the "Square," and the "Basilica." This last is the cathedral, Roman Catholic, and very beautiful and gorgeous. We went through it, also the university, piloted by a young student who was very French. Indeed this place is more French than anything else, and full of priests and nuns, and the names of the streets are all French. I really felt suddenly in a foreign land.

On Sunday we had a very nice service—three clergymen took part in it, one giving us a very fine sermon. The service concluded with "God Save the King," as this is an English boat. Most of the passengers attended "church," and the rest of the day passed very quickly. Monday was "Dominion Day," Canada's great day, and was celebrated with a very good concert and much display of patriotism, everyone joining in the singing of "The Maple Leaf," and "Canada," also "God Save the King," without which no public performance closes. We passed ever so many ice bergs during the next two days and felt their chilling effect in the air, but the sea has been wonderfully calm and smooth and we could not be seasick if we tried, and we have not missed a single meal.

On Thursday "America" held sway on board and elaborate preparations were made to celebrate the glorious Fourth appropriately. Every one who could do so wore red, white and blue, the barber shop was rifled for prizes, and a general gala feeling pervaded the air. At 2:30 p. m., games and sports and contests began. There were races of all sorts. Three-legged, potato, obstacle, Marathon, etc., a tug of war and a baby show, but the funniest thing of all was the grand march at the end, all around the ship headed by a drum and megaphone, the while they sang, shouted, or whistled such airs as John Brown's body, "Marching Through Georgia," "Yankee Doodle," etc. It was really great and I wouldn't have missed it for worlds. In the evening we had a grand concert with speeches and patriotic songs galore, and the prizes for the afternoon were awarded by a very charming young Goddess of Liberty. Such a display of patriotism I never saw and all with such a delightfully friendly rivalry, each nationality good-naturedly "boosting" its own. There were besides America and England, Canada and France and the cheering and enthusiasm were inspiring. I got quite excited after hearing three cheers and a tiger given with a right good will for every one of these countries, and then for the captain and crew and any one else they could think of. The chairman of the evening was fine, and festivities wound up with "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," sung by every one. One little chap said wittily when called on for a speech, "Don't make so much noise you'll wake the night watch on deck."

Tonight we have our final concert and tomorrow shall see land again, the coast of Ireland. Already we are in thought on shore, our dollars and cents changed to pounds, shillings and pence, requiring a good deal of calculating, and everyone is busy with railway guides and maps. Very soon now we passengers will disperse to our various destinations and our voyage will be only a memory, but such a bright and happy one, and our time on board so pleasant, that our pleasure in arriving will be equalled by regret at leaving our comfortable home and very good friends. The Canada, her captain, and her crew and her passengers,—God bless them all.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Six newly appointed full professors will come to Berkeley as heads of various departments on August 16, when the University of California opens its doors for the new university year.

Present indications are that this year's freshman class will be larger by one-tenth than last year's. Last August 1045 freshmen were admitted. Registration day for freshmen, and for other new students admitted to advanced or graduate standing, will be Friday, Aug. 16, while Monday, Aug. 19, is registration day for returning students. Instruction will begin the following day.

Last year's total registration in the University of California of 6390 students (including the summer session but excluding duplicates, university extension students, auditors, students in agricultural short courses, etc.), is certain to be much exceeded.

Sec. 2. That the said Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale find upon estimates directed to be furnished and furnished by the City Engineer of said City of Glendale, that the total cost of said proposed work of improvement will be greater than fifty (50) cents per front foot along each line of said street so proposed to be improved, as hereinbefore set forth, including the cost of intersection work assessable upon said frontage; and said Board of Trustees determines that serial bonds shall be issued to represent the cost of said work or improvement; said serial bonds shall be extended over a period ending nine (9) years from and after the second day of January next succeeding the date of said bonds, and an even annual proportion of the principal sum thereof shall be payable by coupon on the 2nd day of January every year after their date until the whole is paid, and the interest shall be payable semi-annually by coupon on the second days of January and July respectively of each year, at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum on all sums unpaid, until the whole of said principal and interest are paid. ### Miscellaneous

Points to Remember—Every appliance for woman's work should be the best for its purpose. There is as great a difference in the cost of making a sewing machine as there is in making a watch. A cheap watch will indicate time with fair accuracy for a short time; fairly good stitching can be done on some of the old patterns of cheap sewing machines when they are new, but they always work hard, are noisy, and soon wear out. There is but one quality of Singer Machines—THE BEST. Every machine is tested by actual sewing at the factory; it is always ready for every kind of stitching and will do better work and do it longer than any other, because it is of better design and construction. ### THE TROPICO WATER QUESTION.

Glendale is not alone in its struggle for a municipal water system. In this line Tropico has troubles of her own. Several offers have been made to this city by the Tropico Water company for the sale of the company's holdings to the city of Tropico. Up to this time local residents have not given the propositions serious thought, but this latter proposition—to sell to the city the Tropico Water company's holdings for $55,000 has caused them to sit up.

At the meeting of the city trustees in the city hall Thursday evening of this week, the offer of the water company, which was referred to the committee of the whole at the last meeting, came up again, and the report of the committee of the whole submitted. That the people of Tropico are interested in affairs of the city was manifest by the large number present. Edward M. Lynch, city engineer of this city, was instructed to make an estimate of the present value of the water company's holdings. He did so and reported that the figure of $50,000 was extremely fair to the water company's side. This valuation exceeds the stock and bonds of the company, $25,000 stock and $24,000 bonds, secured by a trust deed, by $1000. The gross revenue of the company in 1911 was, for domestic purposes, $8108.95; for irrigation purposes, $2958.80, making a total of $11,067.75. This amount is 22 per cent on the valuation set on the system by Mr. Lynch.

| | Lynch | Rogers |
|---|---|---|
| 1.82 acres in Childs tract, reservoir site on 8th St., at $2000 per acre | $ 3,640 | $ 5,000 |

Something Doing in San Jacinto Town

Whole population surprised. Entire business district of San Jacinto aflame with flags, pennants and banners announcing the dawn of the new San Jacinto. Decoration takes place at night after closing hours. One feature of the display is an artistically colored banner, five feet wide and over fifty feet long, strung across the main street, bearing the words, "Welcome, San Jacinto Board of Trade." There are hundreds of pennants and flags fluttering from doorways and windows everywhere.

The recent water discovery and development at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto, near by, has aroused the whole country around. The great beauty and rare fertility of the valley dates back to the government's first geological survey, but like many other sections of the country in times gone by, the scarcity of water prevented its full development. The new water condition, however, has changed the entire situation. High-class farming in all of its branches is now possible upon every foot of these particularly choice lands.

It is this valley's turn now, and it will be interesting to watch it. If the past few months, with its thrill and flip-flops, are any criterion to go by, San Jacinto will give an account of itself that will not soon be forgotten.

The new resort hotel being erected by Mr. Vosburg, on Central avenue, is going up rapidly. According to contract, it must be completed in one hundred days from date of beginning work.

The new electric light and power system, which circulates through the whole valley, has just been completed. The current will be turned on the first of the coming month.

Mr. Knowlton's foreman says he expects to get two tons of alfalfa per acre at each of the seven cuttings this season from his hundred-acre ranch on Mountain avenue. Two hundred tons per single cutting would mean 1400 tons for the season, or $28,000 for the crop, if the present price of $20.00 is maintained. These figures would no doubt make the back East farmer dizzy, but to the Californian rancher it means only an average production where anything like correct methods are employed.

C. H. WINDHAM, Independent

Progressive Candidate for Congress

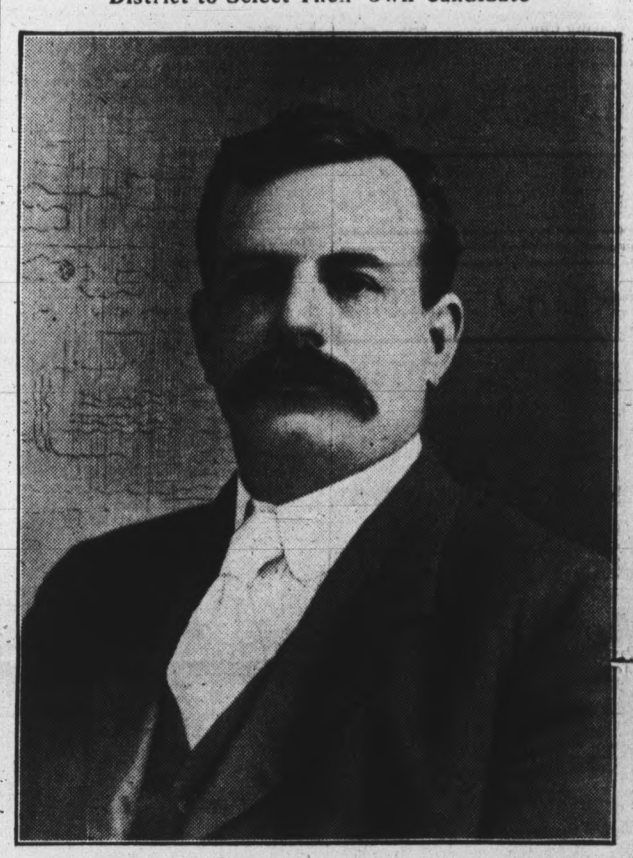
Stands for Abiding by the True Spirit of the Primary Law and Allowing the People of the Ninth Congressional District to Select Their Own Candidate



C. H. Windham, the Progressive candidate for Congress from the Ninth Congressional District, is proving himself to be one of the most aggressive campaigners in the primary fight. Mr. Windham's straight, businesslike talk appeals to the average voter who is too busy to listen to rhetorical effects and too practical to consider any argument aside from that of vital interest to his district.

Believing in abiding by the true spirit of the primary law, both Mr. Windham and his friends refused to allow his name to appear before the Los Angeles committee for the purpose of endorsement. They held that such an action would be in direct violation of the spirit of the primary law now in effect in this state, which is for the purpose of allowing the voters to decide upon their own candidate at the primary election. When a committee of men, a majority of whom do not even reside in the Ninth District, attempt to select a candidate to represent that district in Congress, the spirit of the primary law is doubly violated. Such actions savor of the old boss system without the redeeming feature of allowing the stamp of approval or disapproval to be branded upon the candidates by representatives from their own district at least. However, if the people of California were capable of passing a sound primary law, it is hardly possible that they will allow the endorsement of any committee to override that law or their own common sense when it comes to passing upon the qualifications of their candidates for office.

Mr. Windham's success as a business man and his experience along the line of most interest to the voters of the Ninth District has made a strong impression upon the business men of the district.

Mr. Windham spent twelve years in Central America, and during that time was traffic manager at Port Limon, Costa Rica, the largest fruit-shipping port in Central America, which is about 250 miles north of the Panama Canal. He was also engaged in agricultural pursuits in the growing of coffee and sugar, and thoroughly comprehends the competitive dangers against local citrus fruit and beet sugar growers. He is in favor of protection for the local citrus fruit and beet sugar industries, because he knows from practical experience both that local growers cannot hope to successfully compete against the cheap labor, favorable climate, cheap transportation and abundance of rainfall which favor the Central American and West Indian growers as against those of Southern California.

Mr. Windham's traffic and transportation experience give him an exact understanding of the shipping conditions on the Pacific Coast and at the Panama Canal Zone, and renders him particularly fit to comprehend the great future along that line with the completion of the Panama Canal. Realizing the enormous influence that event will have upon Pacific Coast conditions, Mr. Windham is in favor of the free use of the canal for American ships engaged in the coastwise trade, except those owned and operated by railroad corporations, in order to secure not only the development of the American merchant marine, but primarily the best possible transportation facilities for the Pacific Coast trade.

The ensuing four years of administration, with a Democratic Congress in control, and the near approach of the completion of the Panama Canal, make it of grave importance that our representative in Congress be exceptionally well grounded in the knowledge of conditions affecting the Pacific Coast. This is especially true when it has to be taken into consideration that he will have to meet the keenest minds of the Democratic party on the time-worn but, at least for this district, important question of protection. Consequently, it is absolutely essential that a business man, with a thoroughly business experience along the lines of greatest importance to this district, represent us in an office requiring the greatest of business acumen.

The Ninth Congressional district of California is now segregated in such a way that it is largely made up of communities depending directly upon the profits from the soil—citrus fruits, walnuts, olives, sugar-making. James McLachlan, who is candidate for nomination as congressman in this district, believes in the protection of the tiller of the soil, and his past record in Congress backs him up. # NOT POLITICAL SQUABBLING BUT PROTECTION FOR THE RANCHER!
